NHS advice is that you should be vaccinated to protect against flu...

...if you are over 65 or in an at risk group, because you have:

- asthma/COPD
- diabetes
- chronic kidney disease
- heart disease
- Parkinson's disease
- Motor Neurone Disease
- another long term condition

...or if you are:

- immuno-suppressed (having chemotherapy, for example, or you have HIV/AIDS or have had a splenectomy) or if you live in close proximity with someone who is immuno-suppressed
- currently pregnant
- the main carer for someone (personally or professionally)
- significantly obese (a BMI of 40 or more)

Influenza, and complications arising from it (eg bronchitis or pneumonia), kills thousands of people in the UK every year. The vaccine is developed each season to combat the strains forecast as most likely to be in circulation.
